Bopara makes early running

Ravi Bopara continues to set a ferocious pace in this year's race for the coveted PCA MVP.

The Essex all-rounder has been on fire with the bat, scoring 499 runs in his first four matches and chipping in with useful wickets and catches.

His 137 against Derbyshire was more than half his side's total and, amazingly, he has scored over a third of Essex's LV County Championship runs this season.

"Sometimes you get missed out as an all-rounder if you don't get the big hundreds, but I've done that and it's good to be recognised," said Bopara. "The PCA MVP is great because it takes everything - runs, wickets, catches - into account."

Kent have yet to win a game but they have three men in the top five: Azhar Mahmood, Martin van Jaarsveld and Yasir Arafat.

Azhar has contributed 193 runs and eight wickets, which included second-innings figures of 5-30 against Sussex this week, while van Jaarsveld has scored 338 runs, 177 of which have come at better than a run a ball in the Friends Provident Trophy. Arafat has taken 11 wickets in all competitions and chipped in with 91 runs.

Matt Prior's determination to win back his England place has been evident for all to see. Sussex's wicketkeeper-batsman has scored at least 50 in every innings and has contributed more than a quarter of Sussex's championship runs.

Player Profile

Ravi Bopara

Ravi Bopara claims he was glad he was dropped by England - because it made him even hungrier to cement his place in the side.

The Essex all-rounder was jettisoned by the selectors after a miserable debut Test series in Sri Lanka before Christmas, when he managed just 42 runs in three Tests.

But he has started the domestic summer in sensational fashion, racing to the top of the PCA MVP courtesy of a phenomenal run of form with the bat.

Bopara hit a century in each of the opening two LV County Championship games, and scores of 99 and 59 in the Friends Provident Trophy took his tally for the season to 499 runs in only four competitive innings.

The 22-year-old puts his remarkable early-season success down to a renewed desire, which surfaced only after he was axed by England.

"The tough time I had in Sri Lanka has helped me - it has made me more determined to get back in there," Bopara said.

"It showed me areas I need to work on and what I need to do to perform well at international level.

"I'm glad it happened now, at a young age. I'm more hungry for runs - to perform well and get my place back in that England team."

Bopara, who enjoyed a successful summer in 2007, could have been forgiven for letting his head drop after the disappointment of losing his England spot.

But he is adamant that he never let his spirits dip - indeed, he used his England experience to motivate him ahead of the 2008 campaign.

"Some people might take it as a knockback and not come back for it," he added. "That's not me.

"I want to be put under that pressure again and I want to play for England. It's been a great start to the season - and there's always a window to get back in."

About the MVP

An Introduction

The PCA Player MVP were introduced in 2007 with the aim of identifying the Most Valuable Player (MVP).

Unlike other rankings they combine calculations from all domestic competitions and across all aspects of a player's game. However they can also be broken down to focus on individual competitions and specific playing roles. The formula behind the rankings was devised by PCA members, who took into account their own match experiences and the relative achievements of bowlers, batsmen, wicket-keepers and fielders.

By combining all those disciplines the rankings add up to the newest benchmark in the game.

The rankings are powered by data from PA Sport, the global leader in sports information. They are updated following the conclusion of every game from the county circuit.

The MVP concept has now become integrated into the fabric of English cricket.

Background

During 2006 the PCA undertook an extensive review of all player performance data in the game.

We found:

- > Too much focus on individual elements of the game – averages, run rates, wickets taken.
- > A need for more relevance to all aspects of the game.

- > A need to reflect a player's total contribution to the team.

So we set out to devise a system that rewards players who are skilled in multiple disciplines – taking wickets, scoring runs, holding catches and effecting run-outs.

The Design Challenge

During the 2006 season the PCA's MVP Committee – including a cross-section of players - carried out the following steps:

- > Conducted an overview of existing player data.

- > Designed the PCA MVP concept and identified the objectives.

- > Devised a formula to process a player's contribution to any match.

- > Logged the scores for the first half of the season, reviewed the data for 10 players and then refined the formula.
- > Conducted an end-of-season review, focusing on comparing performances.

Current and former players from the domestic game and the international arena were involved every step of the way to ensure the end result truly reflected the views of the people in the thick of the action.

The Formula

The PCA MVP are based on a cumulative points system that rewards players for every run scored, every wicket taken and every catch held.

In simple terms the points gained for batting, bowling, fielding, captaincy and winning – across every competition – add up to a player's total MVP points. Bonus points can also be scored.

Batting – Batting points are based on runs scored plus percentage of a team's total.

Bonus points for reaching a century, achieving a benchmark run rate, scoring more than 30% of a team's runs

Bowling – The basis for are points for batsmen's order in the line-up minus economy rate.

Bonus points for achieving a benchmark economy rate, taking more than five wickets in an innings, bowling maiden overs.

Fielding – Points are accumulated for holding catches, effecting run-outs, stumpings.

Bonus points for five fielding dismissals in an innings.

All members of a winning team receive a bonus, and additional bonus points are awarded to the captain of a winning team.
